

Activity of integration 1

- You are a district environment officer in your district. You are having challenges to educate people about the need to conserve the environment. Due to population growth and the need for more food, people are persistently cutting down bushes for more farmland. The farmers are also using different chemicals on the bushes which have other effects on some organisms like termites. Termites are also important for different reasons. As an environment officer, design a poster aimed at spreading the message that these organisms are related using your knowledge of life processes using the pictures below:

Senior one A

08/03/2020

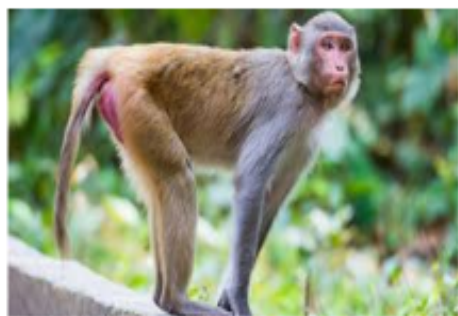

designed by KING SOYEKWO

Activity of integration 2

- You are student of Gombe secondary school, and you have been learning about living things. The communities in your neighborhood in the village are having problems with monkeys in a nearby forest reserve. These animals have destroyed maize plantations and people are planning to poison all the monkeys. You plan to raise awareness about the need to conserve and protect living things, no matter how destructive they are to the crops. You want to Design a poster with your awareness message using the relationship between the following living things:

Senior one B

08/03/2020

designed by KING SOYEKWO

Task: using your knowledge of life processes, design a poster involving all the four living things

Activity of integration 3

- Elephants are great animals. In a certain community in Nwoya, a certain district in Uganda bordering one of east Africa`s largest national park, Murchison falls national park. People plant different crops nearby the park and elephants invade and destroy the crops. People try to raise the issue to the wildlife authority but nothing much is done. elephants are also hunter for ivory and this has led to decline in the population. You are disturbed by these events, and you want start a campaign to save world`s largest land mammals, whose population is dwindling. Use your knowledge of life processes to design a poster to educate people of Nwoya and other areas about protection of living things using the following animals:

Senior one C

08/03/2020

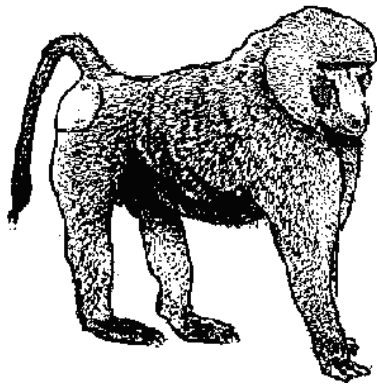

designed by KING SOYEKWO

Task: using your knowledge of life processes, design a poster involving all the four living things

Activity of integration 4

You are a member of the Nature Club at your school. The club is developing an environmental campaign for members of a community that lives next to a forest which is home to a troop of baboons. The baboons regularly destroy the crops in the community's gardens. The community members plan to get rid of the baboons permanently. The Nature Club has to raise awareness about respect for living things. You are given these 4 organisms and you are to elaborate a message showing their relation:

Senior one E

Task: using your knowledge of life processes, design a poster involving all the four living things

Activity of integration 5

You are student of Gombe secondary school, and you have been learning about living things. The communities in your neighborhood in the village are having problems with monkeys in a nearby forest reserve. These animals have destroyed banana plantations and people are planning to poison all the monkeys. You plan to raise awareness about the need to conserve and protect living things, no matter how destructive they are to the crops. You want to Design a poster with your awareness message using the relationship between the following living things:

Senior one E

Task: using your knowledge of life processes, design a poster involving all the four living things

Activity of integration 6

Mr. Soyekwo lives near one of the national parks in Kenya. He is a herdsman and has a flock of goats. He has been allowed by the Kenya wildlife authority to graze his goats at the edge of the national park. The park is also home to several prides of lions, which occasionally attack the goats and eat them. Mr. Soyekwo is not alone, several other herdsman around the park have faced the same problem. The village community have decided to poison all the lions in the park using meat and deadly chemicals. You watch television and realize that the population of lions in the world has declined drastically. You are a member of environmental conservation team and also have knowledge about relationships between living things. You want to raise awareness. You are given these 4 organisms and you are to elaborate a message showing their relation:

shutterstock.com • 665648929

08/03/2020

designed by KING SOYEKWO

Senior one E

Task: using your knowledge of life processes, design a poster involving all the four living things